A GIGANTIC TASK

WORK OF EXEMPTION BOARD A HERCULEAN LABOR OF PATRIOTISM

Friday evening was an average night at the headquarters of the Exemption Board, i.e, the usual number of registrants appeared.

At the long table provided for clerical work teachers from three of the schools were hard at work going over the Questionnaires and making records for use of the Board. The ladies thus employed were Miss Annie L. McIntyre and Elizabeth Edwards of the Central School, Mrs. M. O. Ryan and Miss Ruth Pierce of the Broadway School, and Misses Bertha Berry and Edith Tyler of the Columbus avenue school.

At another desk was Attorney Mattison B. Jones who as a member of the Board of Exemptions shares the responsibilities of Mr. Lanterman. It is Mr. Jones' task to go through every Questionnaire and discover any irregularities or defects, make a note of them and send notices to the registrants to appear in person and correct the documents. The Questionnaires are then reviewed by Mr. Lanterman that the Board may be assured nothing has been overlooked. When the size of the Questionnaire is considered, its many and intricate interrogatories, the proportions of the task, which these busy professional men have undertaken, can be appreciated. Mr. Jones says he is constantly torn between his conflicting duties as a member of the Board and his obligations to his clients. Every morning he visits headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce, again in the afternoon he is there, and nearly every evening he devotes to the task. As he says, it should be done by some man who has retired from business and who could give his entire energies to the work; yet the government and his associates do not want to spare Mr. Jones.

F. L. Muhleman is also giving about half of his time to the service as a member of the Board of legal advisors. In spite of the inroads which this makes on the practice of these two lawyers, they consider it their patriotic duty and are cheerfully performing it.

The unselfish service which the professional men of the district and the teachers have given Mr. Jones considers remarkable. He said: "I cannot begin to express my appreciation of the attorneys of the Advisory Board in giving their time day and night to this work, and of the service of Professor Richardson D. White and the various members of the faculties of our schools who have come day after day and night after night to assist the regular office force in what we all recognize as a gigantic task."

The board was assisted Friday night by Messrs. R. D. White, F. L. Muhleman, W. T. Sprowle, and W. E. Evans.

If the government adopts the suggestion it is considering of increasing the draft age limit to 45 years, the Exemption Board is likely to have continuous work throughout the year.

"KAISER CHASER"

Claude Van Etten, who is one of the local Advisory Attorneys who are assisting the Exemption Board, is a man of versatile talent and great ability in lines other than the legal profession. If anyone questions this statement let him ask the young sons of Mr. Van Etten for whom he has just made a wonderful "Kaiser Chaser." It is a boat on wheels named "The Irish Mail" and the operators who make it "go" appear to be rowing. It carries three passengers, some mounted guns, and a searchlight. It is the outstanding feature of interest among the juvenile population of the part of Tropico in which the Van Ettens live, and parents in the neighborhood are having a hard time because every other boy wants a "Kaiser Chaser."

SERVICE FLAG CEREMONY

The importance of the ceremony which will take place next Thursday at Brand and Broadway when the service flag made by children of the Intermediate School will be presented to the City of Glendale, will be appreciated when it is realized that 1300 to 1400 of the pupils of that school will participate by marching from their school house in a column, four abreast, and that all the grammar school pupils of Glendale and Tropico will be invited to share in the event.

As already announced in the columns of the Evening News, it will take place at 2 o'clock next Thursday afternoon and while it is going on the traffic at Brand and Broadway will be suspended by order of the City Trustees.

A GREAT SUCCESS

RECEPTION TO NEW MEMBERS OF FIRST METHODIST CHURCH IS LARGELY ATTENDED

One of the most helpful, pleasant and enjoyable social affairs ever held by the congregation of the First Methodist church of Glendale, was that held Friday night. It was the reception to the new members who have come into the church fellowship during the past three months, and to say that the occasion was a success, does not fully express the feelings of all who attended.

The first part of the evening's program was held in the lecture hall of the church. All the class rooms and the ladies parlors which open into the lecture hall had been thrown open for the event. Tasteful floral decorations added to the attractiveness of the rooms. As the people arrived they were greeted by a reception committee from the Official Board. The new members received their designation marks, as they left the reception line.

A short program of musical numbers and welcoming addresses was given. After the singing of "America," Rev. C. A. Norton, the first pastor of the Methodist Church in Glendale, made the invocation. This was followed by a ladies trio, "Lift Thine Eyes," by Miss Margaret Lusby, Mrs. Earl Starkey, and Mrs. Helen Salisbury. This selection was an inspiration. Short addresses of welcome were then given by "father" Samuel Parker, on behalf of the older members of the congregation and by Verne Beckman, representing the young people.

Father Parker in his inimitable way, expressed his joy at being able to greet so many of all ages. Despite his nearly ninety years, his references to youth and childhood showed that his heart is still young.

The solo by Miss Eva Thede "I'm a Pilgrim," was exceedingly well rendered and elicited general and well merited commendation. Mrs. H. D. Goss, for the Women's Foreign Missionary Society; Miss Bernice Wood for the Epworth League; Mrs. C. W. Spickerman, representing the Women's Home Missionary Society, and Arthur G. Lindley, the Brotherhood, each brought brief but telling greetings. Dr. Ralph Lusby sang a stirring solo "Loch Lomond," and as an encore rendered a song of Ireland. Both selections were enthusiastically received. Mr. Snudden, the pastor, presided, and with a few closing words asked all present to sing a verse of "Stand Up for Jesus."

At the conclusion of the program, an hour of fellowship and getting acquainted followed. Later the Ladies Aid, with the president, Mrs. R. Lacy at its head, invited the assemblage to the social hall for refreshments.

The reception was largely attended. The new members expressed themselves as "well received." The older members confessed that they doubted if they could remember the names of all the new members. The affair was a great success.

REGISTRATION INTERFERES

Mrs. H. Bombard, of 214 Tropico avenue, who expected her brother and family to arrive before Christmas to enjoy the holidays with her and spend the winter in Southern California, has been disappointed. Their visit will be delayed and perhaps abandoned altogether for the reason that the son on whom they depended to manage their large stock ranch is a registrant under the new Questionnaire system and unless exempted will be liable to be called for service any time. Until he has been granted exemption the father does not feel he can leave his farm.

TROUBLES COME NOT SINGLY

Geo. P. Bohannon, 1425 Myrtle, thinks he has been on the hoodoo list the past two weeks. His wife was taken down with chicken pox and while she was lying quite ill he met with a peculiar accident. He was shaving and the razor fell from his grasp. In trying to regain his hold on it, he knocked it against his face, cutting a gash on his nose and right eyelids, narrowly escaping the ball of the eye. No sooner was this healed and his wife able to be up, than their little boy was taken seriously ill with chicken pox and for a time his life was despaired of. The little fellow is now mending rapidly, however.

SMASHED ALL RECORDS

Glendale is not considering race suicide. Statistics on file at the City Hall prove this, for the birth rate in December smashed all records. Twenty-seven babies came to town, almost one a day, and they didn't come by trolley. The death rate for the same period was eleven.

LLOYD-GEORGE ANSWERS COUNT CZERNIN

GREAT BRITAIN'S REPLY TO PEACE PROFFER OF CENTRAL POWERS GIVEN TO WORLD TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, January 5.—Great Britain's answer to Count Czernin's peace terms for the Central powers were emphatically announced to the world by Premier Lloyd-George today, in a speech before the Laborite "Man Power" conference.

His answer was that Great Britain and her allies are fighting: Not for the destruction and disruption of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey; not merely to alter and destroy the imperial constitution of Germany; not to take from Turkey land that is predominantly Turkish, but for these principles:

First—the complete restoration of Belgium.

Second—the reparation as far as possible of devastated towns and cities.

Third—The neutralization and naturalization of the Dardanelles.

Fourth—"Reconsideration" of the "great wrong" done France in 1871. (Referring to Alsace-Lorraine.)

Fifth—The establishment of an independent Poland comprising all genuinely Polish elements because this is necessary for the stability of Western Europe.

Sixth—That Arabia, Armenia, Mesopotamia, Syria and Palestine all be entitled to separate national conditions.

"Before a separate peace can be possible," Lloyd-George said, "three conditions must be fulfilled:

"The sanctity of the treaty must be re-established.

"There must be a territorial settlement based upon the consent of those governed.

"There must be created some international organization to limit the burden of armament and to diminish the probability of war."

Lloyd-George's address was the first formal and official reply to Count Czernin's proffer of peace to the Allies.

RESTATEMENT OF WAR AIMS IMPENDING

TERMS FRAMED TO EXPOSE GERMANY'S DUPLICITY AT BREST-LITOVSK WOULD DISCOURAGE BOLSHEVIKI

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, January 5.—To hearten the Russians and thwart Germany's peace plans a proposed allied restatement of war aims is likely to be hastened.

Experts argue that the terms specified, so framed as to expose Germany's duplicity at Brest-Litovsk, will tend to block the Bolsheviki from resuming negotiations with the Kaiser.

There appears also here today sympathy for the recognition of the Bolsheviki as a de facto government.

TO STOP UNNECESSARY PASSENGER TRAFFIC

FIRST STEP TO CURTAIL TRAVELING AND LIBERATE LOCOMOTIVES FOR MOVING FREIGHT EXPECTED TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, January 5.—General curtailment of unnecessary passenger traffic to liberate additional locomotives and trackage for freight movement is expected from the Railroad administration today.

These orders will be the first steps in the campaign to stop unnecessary traveling. Fewer passenger trains, less commodious accommodations, the elimination of "luxury service," with possibly higher fares, will take much of the joy out of sight-seeing jaunts, McAdoo believes.

A larger passenger fare, after the British plan, is a possibility.

R. R. EMPLOYES NOT EXEMPT FROM DRAFT

CROWDER RULES THAT RAILROAD MEN WILL NOT BE CONSIDERED AS GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, January 5.—Railroad employes will not be considered as government employes in compiling draft classifications Provost Marshal General Crowder ruled today in answer to questions from draft boards in all parts of the country.

MEXICAN EMBASSY IN WAR TIME

NEWS BUREAU MAKES EFFORT TO SUPPLY DATA ON MEXICO'S ATTEMPT TO CLIMB BACK TO PROSPERITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 5.—Mexico has the ultra-modern embassy in Washington. A smoothly working press bureau—supplying Mexican news, works daily in semi-official contact with the Ambassador.

Ambassador Ygnacio Bonillas—the Mexican Ambassador, who has an American wife, was a Madero man when the first revolution started in Mexico. He balked at joining the Huerta treason, and was always close to First Chief Carranza.

Back in 1884 Bonillas graduated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Previously he had taught public school in Tucson, Arizona.

The ambassador holds many misconceptions of Mexico are due to widespread enemy propaganda circulated through the United States.

NEW TO GLENDALE

John H. English recently from Oregon, but formerly a resident of Colorado, is serving the new Diando Film Company which has taken over the Kalem Studio on the Verdugo Road, as publicity agent.

Although he has been in the publicity business all his life, it is his first visit to Southern California and he is accumulating some very interesting first impressions. For fourteen years he conducted an eight-page daily at Trinidad, Colorado, which had twenty-five to thirty employes on its payroll, so he knows considerable about publicity from the newspaper man's standpoint. He has always been tremendously interested in the movies, however, and especially in Marie Osborne, so when he had an opportunity to tackle the publicity problem from the movie producer's viewpoint, he jumped at the chance and Glendale got him. He has been here only since the first of January.

"THE FEEDING OF CHILDREN"

Mrs. A. A. Barton, local chairman of the County Council of Defense, has advised the Evening News that Mrs. Hazard, who has been giving lectures and demonstrations in the City Hall will be in Glendale next Monday morning instead of on Tuesday as heretofore, and on that date will give a lecture in the council chamber on "The Feeding of Children." The meeting will take place at the usual hour, 10 o'clock, there is no fee, and it is hoped that every mother in Glendale will take advantage of the opportunity to hear a practical expert on this very important subject. A second lecture on this topic will be given, and it will be followed by two lectures on "Diet for Invalids." These lectures will be given weekly. The committee feels it has been exceedingly fortunate in securing Mrs. Hazard, as she is in great demand, and it hopes the women of Glendale will appreciate and take advantage of their privileges.

THEIR LAST LEAVE

Corporal Lewis Leppelman was among those who were granted furloughs from Saturday to Wednesday from Camp Kearny. He spent it with his parents at the Leppelman home, 1457 Milford street and went back to camp Tuesday with the other boys who came up with him, the list including James Gibson, Miller Holman and Fred Farner, all of whom are in Battery F. The boys expected this would be their last leave as it was understood they would be sent east in February.

DEATH OF ALFRED ADAMS, SR.

Alfred Adams, Sr., long a resident of Sunland, passed away at the home of his son, James R. Adams, 3233 E. Fifth street, Los Angeles, December 29. The deceased was well known throughout Southern California as a minister of the Holiness church. He is survived by a wife and two sons, Alfred Adams, Jr., of Sunland, and James Adams of Los Angeles.

Funeral services were held Saturday, January 5 at the Holiness church Avenue 61, Highland Park.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday. Frost in exposed places. Westerly winds.

MORE TERRITORY

RESIDENTS OF DISTRICT NORTHWEST OF GLENDALE SEEK ANNEXATION TO CITY

Residents of the district Northwest of the City of Glendale who have been promoting the annexation of that territory to this city have today filed with City Clerk Sherer a notice of their intention to circulate an annexation petition among the voters of the district which extends West from Grand View avenue to the first property line west of Vine avenue between San Fernando Road and Mountain avenue. It will include about half of the territory which lies between Grand View avenue and the Burbank line and connects onto the pumping plant strip back of Grand View. It covers about three-fourths of a square mile and represents about forty voters.

The people of the district seem to be very favorably disposed toward the proposition. A portion of it has been subdivided and is known as Glendale Heights and they are anxious to get water and electric lighting.

WILL DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEMS

The first monthly meeting of the High School P.-T. A. for 1918, will be held Monday evening, January 7, at 7:30 p. m. at the Glendale Union High School. The meeting has been set for the evening rather than for the afternoon in order that fathers may attend as well as mothers, as the committee in charge has arranged a particularly interesting program.

The speaker of the evening is to be Dr. Snyder, Principal of the Hollywood High School, a man who is widely known as an advanced thinker along educational and political lines. He has chosen for his topic, "School Problems Arising from War Conditions." Perhaps few parents realize how many and varied problems are arising in the schools due to war conditions, and of what vital importance they are to the future of every school child. The realization of how they affect each one will be brought home to all those who hear this live discussion of their handling and solution by a man who has made educational problems a life study.

The success of the last meeting, in charge of the mechanical arts department of the High School demonstrated the interest that the fathers especially are finding in these opportunities for getting in closer touch with the work that is being done for their children. Doubtless even many more will be present at this occasion which is a banner meeting with which to start off the new year.

HOLIDAY DANCE

Misses Louise and Christine Ferriss, daughters of Mrs. E. B. Johnson gave a pretty dancing party at their home at 1446 Hawthorne street last evening. Decorations were in the Christmas colors, and besides the dancing there was an excellent impromptu musical and literary program which the favored guests enjoyed immensely. Tom Stanley Herdman of Los Angeles, gave several humorous recitations, Marcella Miller recited and Miss Barnes sang. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. Those present were: Marcella Miller, Martha Ray, Harriet Barnes, Mary Logan, Louise and Christine Ferriss, Tommy Stanley Herdman and John Bullis of Los Angeles, Irving Westwood, Mansford Barnes, Harry Wilson and Harold Russell.

WAUNITA EMERY ENTERTAINS

This afternoon Miss Waunita Emer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, will entertain a party of eight chums and college friends by taking them to see Captain Kid Jr., at the Morosco in Los Angeles, and afterwards to the Chocolate Shop on Sixth street for refreshments. The young ladies who will enjoy the treat are: Margery Imler, Ernestine Lyon, Carrie Stone, Esther Shremp, Catherine Phillips, Katherine Renshaw and Margaret Boucher.

GLENDALE'S HOME ATTRACTIONS

One of Glendale's prominent real estate men told an Evening News reporter recently of a man from the East to whom he was selling a home. Owing to serious illness in the home, it could not be shown to the prospective purchaser, but so in love with Glendale was he and so taken with the home's exterior—green lawn, blooming flowers, neat walks and parking that he rented apartments for a month in order to be near when an interview would be possible.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1918.

NEW UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA COURSES

Last night, at the Polytechnic High School building in Los Angeles, the University of California set the ball rolling for new extra courses in Southern California. These courses cover a wide field, including such subjects as Journalism, Navigation and Natural Astronomy, English Verse and Practical Salesmanship. There are 30 courses in all, given by specialists and experts. These courses will be given in Los Angeles at various places. Information regarding them can be secured of the secretary, who is in Room 509, Union Oil Building. At the initial meeting last night more than 2000 people were present. The opening half hour was occupied by Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, President U. of C., who announced that the new progress in university work would make an added bond of union between Northern and Southern California. His remarks on oratorical and newspaper work were especially timely. He closed with a comment on the two world views on the present trend of the times. Germany wears her laws close and exact, like a sweater. No room for mercy and charity; only exactitude and mathematical accuracy in life and government. She has developed like anthracite coal—under pressure. Fear, force and materialistic law reign in Germany. On the other hand, we and our democratic allies wear our laws like our clothes, more loosely. Freedom, charity, individuality and generosity characterize our ideals.

Dr. Leuschner, head of the astronomical department of the U. of C., spoke for an hour, following Dr. Wheeler. He spoke of the union of forces of American universities from the Atlantic to the Pacific. On the very day of the Sussex note, in April, 1916, President Wilson addressed in secret the members of the American Academy of Science, about 100 scientific leaders, telling them to start the movement in American universities—laboratory research, organization and other ways. Much of this address was technical but it included many enlightened details and inside information. One significant touch was added when Dr. Leuschner explained that we must not discuss much of the scientific work for the reason that "our German friends" in the audience might too easily understand it. The aeronautical school which the speaker discussed includes among its 400 students one of Glendale High School's late instructors, Prof. Elmer Richardson, who left for Berkeley a month ago.

There will be 12 free lectures in the course, held weekly. That on Friday next, January 11, will be given by Wm. McDonald, Ph.D., L.L.D., on the subject, "Great Britain, a Democratic Commonwealth." The one on January 18th will be by Chas. Mills Gayley, poet and writer of text books, on "Foundations of American Liberty." Many Glendale people know him.

URGE USE OF DRIED VEGETABLES

Both Governor Stephens and the State Council of Defense in a resolution passed today by the California Women's Committee of National and State Defense, are requested to place before the Committee on Resources and Food Supply and before proper authorities in Washington, California's ability to supply millions of pounds of dehydrated vegetables and to urge their use for army and navy purposes.

According to the resolution, the British, French and even the German armies are using enormous quantities of dehydrated or dried vegetables for both their armies and navies with satisfactory results. A Canadian firm is reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to be supplying 2,000,000 pounds monthly of dried vegetables to the French and British armies. The United States has not yet adopted the use of dehydrated food in lieu of the more bulky and more expensive canned goods, it is said.

The resolution adopted by the State Women's Committee declares that if the United States government will afford a market for dehydrated products in the army and navy, it will open up to every farmer in California and in all other sections of the United States an immense market for surplus products which would otherwise go to waste. The Department of Agriculture of the University of California is asked to take up the matter with a view to supplying the army and navy with this form of food product.

SCHOOLS FOR REGISTERED MEN

High schools throughout California are urged by the State Council of Defense to emulate the example of the Sacramento Board of Education which has established a free technical training school, especially designed and conducted for men registered under the draft law and liable for military service in the Sacramento evening high school.

The classes for drafted men organized in Sacramento have undertaken to train drafted men in the following:

1. Infantry drill.
2. Telegraphic and radio signal training.
3. Forge shop work and machine shop.
4. Cooking.
5. Carpentry and wood work.
6. Drawing, draughting and mathematics.

The classes in Sacramento are conducted from seven to nine o'clock every evening. They are in conformity with the government's urging that every drafted man equip himself for some special line of service.

NEGLECTED MERCHANT MARINE

As an illustration of how this country neglects its merchant marine the exports and imports of the Philippine Islands for the year 1916 is a good example.

The Philippine Islands are a strictly American territory and this country did fifty-one per cent of the exports and imports yet only handled twelve per cent of its own business in American ships, the balance, eighty-eight per cent, being turned over to the vessels of foreign nations. Of the total exports and imports of the Philippines, American vessels carried only six per cent. If foreign nations found it profitable to carry our products back and forth between our own mainland and one of our own possessions there should be no reason why Americans could not profitably do this business.

The way to build up an American merchant marine is to encourage American capital to invest in American ships by fair and constructive legislation instead of such laws as have been passed in recent years, which have virtually wiped the American flag off the Pacific. Now is the time to prepare for the competition we will have after the war.—Whittier News.

HONORS COLLEGE FRIENDS

College girls who are home for the Christmas holidays are being entertained and feted in a royal way by their stay at home friends.

This evening a dinner party at which covers will be laid for six, will be given by Miss Catherine Phillips, of 710 W. Fifth street. Margery Imler and Katherine Renshaw who are students at the State University as Berkeley, will be guests of honor. Other guests entertained by Miss Phillips will be Eugene Imler, William Renshaw and Tom Phillips.

DEATH OF MRS. IRWIN

Mrs. Rebecca G. Irwin passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Baker, 1551 Milford street, Saturday morning, January 5. The deceased was born Sept. 1, 1844 in Pennsylvania. She had lived in Glendale for the past five and a half years.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed but the remains will be shipped to Philadelphia to be interred beside her husband.

DAN KELTY JR., NO. 2

A decidedly welcome guest who arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kelty Jr., 1566 Ivy street, Dec. 30th in time to celebrate New Year's with them, was a ten-pound lusty boy who came by the Stork express and who has been named Dan Kelty, Jr. He has a sister but is the only boy. He and his mother are doing well and his parents, his grandparents and all their friends are delighted.

The frost is on the pumpkin back East; but on account of the scarcity of labor a lot of fodder is not in the shock.

BUSINESS FOLLOWS INDUSTRIES

Whether it is a big industrial corporation or a farmers' cooperative industry, business of all kinds follows in the wake of payrolls.

For instance, a new business district has just been laid out near the new Los Angeles ship-building plant; the houses and stores follow.

The community that concentrates its energies on securing payrolls and industrial enterprises will outstrip the one that neglects this. Communities need churches, schools, lodges and reformatory enterprises like revivals and uplift conventions, but these do not supply payrolls.

Seek ye first the kingdom of employment at good wages for men, women and young people and all these other things will be added.

Too many communities float in an atmosphere of sentimentalism and wonder why families move away or are unable to pay their grocery bills.

They do not realize that it is only through payrolls and transacting business that money is put in circulation where ordinary people get it.

Those who live on public salaries or by clipping coupons and collecting rents are a very small minority that does not spell prosperity.

Ninety per cent of the population must live by working in industries or by producing from the soil, the mines or the waters.

CHINESE LABOR IN CUBA

Cuba is importing thousands of Chinese laborers to work on sugar and tobacco plantations, because the planters cannot secure sufficient native labor. Cuba can find a market for all the sugar she can produce at the highest prices known in modern times and is determined to reap the full benefit of her golden harvest.

We are paying excessive prices for necessaries of life because we either have insufficient labor or because Americans will not do farm work. There is land enough on this continent to feed the world, and labor enough is available in the world to cultivate every acre of it. This foreign labor cannot be imported into the United States, so the people pay double prices for necessaries of life.

Cuba is serving us and our allies by importing Chinese to cultivate her idle acres. She is doing no more than we found necessary to construct the Panama canal. The choice lies between using Chinese labor to produce the vast quantity of sugar which we and our allies need and letting the opportunity slip with loss of profit to planters at home and short rations for Americans and other good customers who would take a million tons if they could get it.

California fruit growers, at their annual convention at Sacramento, petitioned Congress to "permit the introduction of sufficient Chinese or other farm labor" as a war measure. This reopens the contract labor dispute at a time when the United States could vastly increase production of food necessary for winning the war if labor to cultivate the land could be obtained.

American workmen should ask themselves whether they would not be better off with plenty of food at reasonable prices produced by foreign labor than they are with insufficient quantities sold at high prices. We must feed our soldiers and help to feed our allies or we shall lose this war. Anything is better than that, and contract laborers can be deported at the end of the war, if we do import them. It is better to hire others to do the work than to do without the necessaries of life.

Skilled European laborers draw high wages in Oriental countries where the rough work is done by natives. An English locomotive driver in British India is an aristocrat. An American mechanic will not do farm work, yet they object to the importation of foreign farm labor. From a purely selfish standpoint, American workmen would be better off if others were to do the kind of work which they dislike. There will be more employment for highly skilled mechanics and experts in Cuba as a result of the importation of Chinese labor to produce the raw material which they will turn into finished merchandise.—New York Commercial.

CENTRAL AVE. SCHOOL PUPILS BUY 84 THRIFT STAMPS IN THREE DAYS

Miss Annie McIntyre, principal of the Central Avenue School of Casa Verdugo, has some interesting statistics in connection with the thrift stamp movement.

When Governor Stephens set Dec. 13th as "Thrift Day," Miss McIntyre arranged with E. K. Barnes to give a talk to the children and explain what Thrift Stamps meant and how the children could help the war by purchasing them. There are about 140 pupils in the school and they were greatly interested in the matter. The sale of stamps begun in the school two days before the holiday vacation and was resumed after the school reopened. In the first three days of the sale eighty-four stamps were bought, which is a patriotic showing, because the Central Avenue School is not large. Miss McIntyre has also shown her patriotism by assisting evenings and holidays at the headquarters of the Exemption Board.

WONDERFUL, IF TRUE

Mention was made last season of a gardener who grafted tomato plants onto potato vines and reaped a double harvest—potatoes under the ground, and tomatoes above, all on the same stock. The home garden movement for Glendale does not contemplate any sensational results as this, but raising tomatoes, potatoes, etc. in the good old fashioned way and plenty of them. Public meeting tonight, 1017 Broadway.

Among the speakers at the mid-year convention of Christian churches of Southern California Friday was Elder Clifford A. His four years' pastorate in St. Louis gave him peculiar opportunities for information on this subject and his address was one of the outstanding features of the meeting.

MORE AUTHENTIC CHICKEN NEWS

There is considerable of an interest being taken in the poultry business in Glendale and it is very likely there would be with eggs and poultry selling at present high prices. P. F. Rentfrow, of 1542 West Fifth street, who conducts a barber shop at 409 S. Brand boulevard, says he kept an exact record of 18 hens for the whole year of 1917. Feed cost $60. Hens laid 283 dozen eggs which sold on the market for $108. Raised 66 young chickens, some of which he sold at fancy prices. Some left will sell for $5 each and all others are worth on the market an average price of $1.00 each. Mr. Rentfrow takes great delight in caring for his small flock of poultry and is well satisfied with the year's results.

PAINE BOYS IMPROVING FAST

Herman Paine Jr., injured Monday afternoon in an auto accident, was taken home from Thornycroft Friday. His leg is still considerably swollen, but his general condition is much improved. Derrick is also getting along nicely, but his recovery is bound to be slow. He was able to breathe through his nose Friday for the first time. He suffers severely all the time, but bears up like a brave young soldier.

LOSS HEAVY, INSURANCE SMALL

Mrs. Fryer informs the Evening News that the $200 insurance on their barn, burned a few days ago, has been paid. This was all the insurance they had, though the loss on the barn was fully $900 and on the 8 tons of barley hay and 1 ton of alfalfa was well on toward $300. The total loss exceeded $1500. They are now erecting a temporary shed for the auto and the mules.

Can you and I take chances on being one of the three? And yet, if you can secure our insurance, you have more than an even chance to reach that age. In fact, out of each 100 persons insured in "the Provident," from ages 25 to 50, statistics show that 67 to 74 are living at age 65 and 39 to 44 at 75! DIANDO FILM NOTES

(Written for the Evening News by JOHN H. ENGLISH)

Glendale is on the motion picture map and is going to get much favorable publicity through the Diando Film Corporation, who are featuring the celebrated child actress, Baby Marie Osborne. As is well known this company have recently purchased the Kalem plant at the edge of the city, have thoroughly remodelled the studio and are now turning out five-reel feature plays for the youngest star now in the film world.

They have just completed a patriotic comedy-drama which has been called "A Little Patriot," and it is an excellent vehicle for the child star to display her remarkable dramatic ability. The film is very apropos as it offers in suggestion to her audience many ways that even children can be real patriots and assist their country in time of war, spies and unfriendly aliens. The play is as much for old folks as for the kiddies and its charm and timeliness is one of the hits of the season.

In addition the many well known actors and actresses who assisted Baby Marie in this production, the cast includes Ernest, the well known colored boy who is seen in many of the baby's pictures.

Its release date will be watched for by the movie fans and the many friends of Baby Marie Osborne, because it shows the great advancement she has made in the histronic art in the past years, and particularly since she has had for her director William Bertram, the wizard of child actor productions.

The motion picture theatre of Glendale will undoubtedly give our people an opportunity to see this great picturization when it is released by Pathe, who have purchased the rights to the picture.

The company has also found it necessary to secure the services of Richard Johnson as technical director to assist in the proper staging of the ten feature plays to be produced by the company during 1918 for Baby Marie Osborne alone. Mr. Johnson has been with the motion picture industry since its infancy and has been with several companies in Southern California since coming to the coast.

Since the completion of "A Little Patriot" the Baby Marie company has been working on another feature to be known as "A Daughter of the West."

The Pathe company was so interested in the production of this play that Mr. Borst, vice president of the Pathe Exchange, Inc., came to California from New York City to see that no expense was spared in its production and that a supporting company of actors and actresses in keeping with the ability of the baby grand star was secured. It will take several months to produce this last feature, and this will be followed immediately by the other plays as fast as they can be properly produced.

Practically all the leading scenario writers of this country are and have been working on plays to afford this young actress suitable opportunity to display her wonderful powers of comedy and dramatic interpretation.

In addition to Baby Marie Osborne company the Bryant Washburn company has also been engaged in the production of one of Washburn's famous comedies at the Diando Studios.

DANGER TO AUTOS

So many autos strangers to these parts, drive straight down Brand boulevard, following the street car line, expecting a road to Los Angeles, and get stuck in the sand at the river bottom near Ivanhoe bridge. Only last Tuesday the writer saw two machines stuck there and it was just dropping dusk, New Year's day and no help. They would require a team of horses to pull them out. There ought to be a sign across the road at Atwater avenue warning of no road.

WHY DO NOT CATHOLICS READ THE BIBLE?

Glendale, Cal., January 1918.
Editor Glendale Evening News:

Question asked me recently, "Why do not Catholics read the Bible? Is it because they receive their teaching from the priest? A very earnest Bible student told me that he heard a once devout Catholic girl say she had not known God until she read her Bible and studied it."

We have seen this same yarn in print several times during the past few months. It is rather strange that a "Once devout Catholic girl" should be mentioned and not some definite person. These made-to-order stories are more easily detected than made-to-order clothes.

As to the oft repeated and oft answered accusation that Catholics are not allowed the read the Bible, let it suffice to say that it is the wish of the Church that a Catholic Bible be in every Catholic home. Furthermore, it is the wish of the Church that this self-same Bible should be not merely an ornament or a storage place for valuable papers and recipes, but that it should be a book read by all the members of the family. This accusation has arisen, no doubt, from some certain passages in the Edicts of the Councils, whereby unauthorized and corrupted versions of the Sacred Scripture were forbidden the people in their mother tongue. By placing this restriction upon them, it is not and never has been the intention of the Church to keep the people in ignorance regarding the Divine Revelations contained in the Sacred Book. To translate the Sacred Scriptures from the original Hebrew or Greek language into a modern tongue, requires more than ordinary learning. It requires furthermore, much patience, fidelity to truth, and a carefulness for the slightest details. It was because many of these requisites were wanting in the translators of the Sacred Scriptures that their translations into the mother tongue of the people, were forbidden to the people themselves. Authorized versions, i.e., a translation of the Bible by a competent authority, exercising proper care in the translation, has always been strongly recommended to the people. Why should the Church prohibit the reading of the Bible, when a fair perusal of the entire Bible but blazons forth her glorious Primacy over all denominations, and establishes beyond doubt the fact of her Divine Institution.

Getting back to the idea of prohibiting the use of the unauthorized versions, but brings to mind a recent act of our own nation. The paper called the "Jeffersonian" was prohibited the use of the mails because it contained seditious utterances. It was undermining, at least in the minds of some of its readers, the authority of the President of the United States. It was breaking down that intense loyalty and compact unity which has characterized at all times, the American people. Because these unpatriotic utterances appeared at a time that was filled with dramatic tenseness, it was deemed necessary by the President that this publication be suspended. It was not because these Civil authorities feared just criticism. It was suspended because this unjust and unpatriotic criticism was working harm in the minds of some Americans. It is for precisely the same reason that the Church prohibits the Bible translated into the mother tongue by one who is incapable or where the meaning of the more difficult passages of Sacred Scripture are not made clear by explanatory footnotes.

Quite recently we had the pleasure of listening to a twenty-minute drill in Catechism, Bible History, and the Sacred Scriptures. Twenty-four pupils participated in this recitation. The life of our Divine Savior, the many beautiful parables which He spoke, the happenings of interest in the Old Testament, were discussed with a thoroughness that would have tested the ingenuity of your "earnest Bible student." And this by school children in a parochial school of Los Angeles! Upon the desk, in easy access to all, was a neat cloth-bound edition of Douay's version of the Sacred Scriptures. It occupied the place of honor in the school room. Does this make it appear that the Bible is not read by Catholics? Do you not know that the very doctrines of our Holy Religion, which so many people imagine the people learn only from the lips of the priest, are found in the Catechism, together with the Scriptural proofs which show that they are truly revealed by God? Kindly remember that the Bible, in its present form is possible because of the care exercised over it by the Catholic Church. The fact that Catholics realize that Christ established His Church to teach them the doctrines necessary for salvation and therefore do not believe that the Bible is the sole Rule of Faith, does not prove that they do not read the Sacred Book.

COMFORT BAGS

Friday afternoon Mrs. A. M. Beamon and her assistant Miss Griffith, were exceedingly busy at Red Cross headquarters filling comfort bags,—forty-three of them. Mrs. Beamon has been so long in the work that it was splendidly systematized and went forward like clockwork. On a long table were forty-three little heaps or islands representing the forty-three bags, the list of articles which should be included was carefully gone through and a supply of each thing added to the piles. It was then a simple matter to transfer the piles to the bags, which by the way, are all of khaki and of a knapsack design far ahead of the ordinary bag closed with a drawstring which is in use by most chapters. An especially good feature is the outside pocket for stationery and envelopes.

Mrs. Beamon wishes all the soldier boys of Glendale to understand that they are entitled to one of these comfort bags and if for any reason they have failed to receive one, they should apply in person at the Red Cross headquarters on Brand, or send their friends to get it.

Condense church notices so that only important facts will be given. Place and time of services, name of speaker and subject are essential points.

A mere man and a steam engine both need governors to prevent them from racking themselves to pieces. Man is but a machine, after all.

That touch of Borean blasts in the East will send the visitors scurrying to California. Nothing like that in this neck of the woods.

THANKSGIVING DAY FOR ENGLAND JANUARY 6TH.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—In a letter addressed "to my people" the King set aside Sunday, January 6 as a "special day of prayer and thanksgiving in all the churches throughout my dominions."

The King's proclamation says: "The world-wide struggle for the triumph of right and liberty is entering upon its last and most difficult phase. The enemy is striving by desperate assault and subtle intrigue to perpetuate the wrongs already committed and to stem the tide of a free civilization. We have yet to complete the great task to which more than three years ago we dedicated ourselves.

"At such a time I would call on you to devote a special day of prayer, that we may have the clearsightedness and strength necessary to the victory of our cause."

PRICE ONLY CHANGE IN 1918 AUTOS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The eighteenth annual National Automobile Show opened at the Grand Central Palace today—war time price prices availing. The show will continue until January 12.

Eighty-six manufacturers are displaying more than 300 models, ranging all the way from tiny runabouts selling for a few hundred dollars to the largest roomiest limousines costing up to $20,000.

The exhibit include cars "meeting every purse," but the percentage of low priced cars is markedly lower than in 1917. Last year about 10 per cent of the models sold for under $750. This year just slightly under 6 per cent of the models sell under this mark.

21.6 per cent of the 1918 models list for under $1,000. Last year this price class represented 27.7 per cent of the models. A man desiring to spend between $1,000 and $2,000 for a car this year has 49 per cent of the models on the market to select from, while last year he had 53.6 per cent.

Thousands of little attachments designed to add to the economy and comfort of automobile maintenance are displayed on the upper floors of the Palace.

The 1918 car shows very little change mechanically over that of 1917. What changes have been made, are chiefly in the nature of minor refinements.
